Matthew Roddy: Developer

Email: matthewd.rodgy@gmail.com

Bio: My name is Matthew Roddy, Web Developer for Triple Threat Designers. I studied Web Design and Development for two years at Pittsburgh Technical College and have been working in the web development field ever since. I have designed and developed for various organizations such as Call of The River Soaps, The World Fashion Display, Dirt Vanquisher RC and more. I look forward to taking on all new projects and challenges that come my way, and continuing to learn and grow in my field.

Email: barr.m.sean@gmail.com

Bio: Hello, I am Sean Barr, and I am the project manager of Triple Threat Design. Projects that I have taken charge of and designed are Crazy Custom Cases and Fredrickson and Son Car Depot and many more. I love web design because everyone needs a website and I want to help them. So let our triple threat team make you a triple threat design today!

Katriona M. Stagg: Designer

Email: katmstagg@gmail.com

Bio: Greetings. My name is Katriona Stagg. I am the web designer of Triple Threat Designers. I have been in the practice of graphic design for two years, and have a certificate of completion from my junior through senior years of high school from my technical school. When participating in the SkillsUSA competition, I ranked 1st in local, 2nd in regional, and 11th out of 18-20 people in the state. I also received Adobe certification in Illustrator, Photoshop, and InDesign in 2019.
